A Story i'll recall with Tears & a Smil

*It was a time when people were not so scared of guns and knives shown by other
But of the handshakes and greetings
we share eachother...*

*Can't say they were scared of humans,
But something they passed rather than negativity or some atrocity...*

*It was corona a virus
Something very barbarous...*

The animals they wondered where are those pitiless humans?

Carrying those ghastly looks...

where - o - where are those crooks... ?

They didn't know the humans were hiding in their homes, under the lockdown...

stuck in the shelves, just like some unread books...

Their cruelty didn't end ...

It was just stuck with them...

But their good parts were showing up...

The hobbies hidden beneath were glowing!

Their talents and hidden desires were shining bright...

The old ones taught the young ones the wisdom of, what's wrong & right...

This was the part of the lucky ones whose Houses were not affected...
But the unlucky ones, where Corona reached their homes, lives were all destroyed...

The lucky ones for them prayed...
The unlucky ones losing hope, just wept...
The nature rejoiced...
The helpers, doctors, officers, "The unseen heroes"
we called them, they fought...
Against the virus that haunts...
which was doing good and bad both...
Nobody knew what the future holds...

All we did was hope for the best...
Humans did change a bit in every case
My dear child you can use the rest...
